

The Boyer Fellowship

The Boyer Fellowship is intended to enable selected students of the Department of Classics “to travel abroad in order to gain firsthand knowledge of the people, monuments, inscriptions, and manuscripts of the classical lands”.

Instructions for Applicants

In order to be considered for the Boyer Fellowship, applicants must first apply for a Ryerson Fellowship in the Division of the Humanities. After applying for the Ryerson Fellowship, applicants must:

1. send a copy of their Ryerson Fellowship application to the Administrative Assistant of the Department of Classics, and
2. mention in a separate letter that they would like to apply for a Boyer Fellowship.

The deadline for submitting an application for a Boyer Fellowship is the same as the deadline for the Ryerson Fellowship. The Ryerson Fellowship has deadlines in Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarters.
